

THE LIMeworks STABLES

– looking after the horse power

HORSES, MULES AND DONKEYS

pulled trucks of stone on tramways around the quarries and limeworks. They were housed and fed in these cobble floored stables. Recent excavations revealed piles of worn out horse-shoes, discarded by the blacksmith.

ARMY SURPLUS

Egyptian donkeys from the Boer War were purchased in 1902 to add extra pulling power.

THE STABLES

and former lean-to hay shed have been converted to provide an educational resource room. There are also facilities for learning about the use of lime and a working demonstration limekiln.
